DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 87-116, 121, and 122, drawn to an animal feed composition.

Group II, claims 117 and 120, drawn to a method of making an animal feed composition.

Group III, claims 118 and 119, drawn to a method of using an animal feed composition.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the common technical feature among the inventions is the animal feed composition, which is not novel as evidenced by von Bittera et al. (U.S. Patent No. 4,283,4000; Issued Aug 11, 1981) (hereinafter von Bittera et al.). Specifically, von Bittera et al. disclose medicated (i.e. active agent containing) animal feeds (column 1, lines 5-7) in pellet or bead forms (column 2, line 12). von Bittera et al. teach that the formulations may contain various binders including alginates, starch, and cellulose derivatives (i.e. non-digestible polymers) (column 2, lines 5-10), and may contain lecithin (i.e. an emulsifier) (example

5). Additionally, von Bittera et al. teach that the binder components may be present in amounts from 0.5-10% (column 2, lines 59-66) and teach the amount of lecithin (i.e. the emulsifier) is in a ratio of about 1:3 with the non-digestible polymer (example 5, wherein polyvinylpyrrolidone is the polymer). Thus the animal feed composition of instant claim 1 is disclosed by von Bittera et al. Because this element cannot be considered novel, it is not a special technical feature as defined under PCT Rule 13.2, Part I (b). Thus, the Groups do not share a common special technical feature and are subject to restriction.

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

For Group I, the species are as follows:

- Bioactive agent (claims 98-102)

Should Group I be elected, applicant is required to specify a single type of bioactive agent chosen from those listed in instant claim 98 (e.g. microbes, proteins, peptides, nucleic acids, etc...).

4. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

5. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

6. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species as set forth above. The following claims are generic for Group I: 87-97, 103-116, 121, and 122. No species election is currently required for Groups II or III.

7. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the animal feed composition (Group I) is anticipated by von Bittera et al. as set forth in paragraph 2 above.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

9. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

10. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

11. In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
